

Fall Spirit Week Includes Service Project

By Jennifer Blaine

Each year, the students at St. Michael the Archangel Catholic School enjoy a fun-filled “Spirit Week” planned and sponsored by the Student Council. In addition to a variety of activities designed for student enjoyment, the Student Council also selects a service project that unites the school community in outreach to others. This year’s service project for Fall Spirit Week was to raise awareness and donate funds to breast cancer research efforts. On Wednesday, November 16th, students dressed in pink outfits and accessories and made personal contributions to the cause. Through prayer and action, students at St. Michaels learn the importance of, and satisfaction found in, reaching out to others in word and deed.

Mrs. Wallmark’s 5th Grade proudly wore pink to raise awareness in support of breast cancer research.

Principal Larry Savoy and Kindergarteners showed their support for the “Pink Day” service project.
